

TRAVIS TRIAL IS TRANSFERRED

Former Comptroller, Wendell and Judson to Be Tried by Justice McAvoy.

Acting District Attorney Ranton announced today that Supreme Court Justice McAvoy had transferred from the Court of General Sessions to the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court the indictments against former State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis, Comptroller James A. Wendell, who was Deputy under Travis, and Albert L. Judson, a note broker. Mr. Ranton said he expected the trial to begin the first Monday in June before Justice McAvoy. The defendants are accused of grand larceny and false auditing of public accounts.

The transfer of the case was made at the request of District Attorney Swanwick after a conference in his office, attended by Mr. Ranton and former Gov. Whitman, special prosecutor. There were reports to-day that Mr. Whitman would be put in charge of the prosecution of the cases.

Max D. Steiner, counsel for the indicted men, announced to-day that he would apply for a dismissal of the indictments on the ground of insufficient and illegal evidence.

1,000 PRAY ON SHIP AS SICK BOY LEAVES

Doctor Exhausts Resources to Keep Child Alive Until Liner Reaches This Port.

One thousand Italian passengers aboard the Lloyd Sabaudo liner Pisano from Naples and Genoa knelt in prayer on the deck yesterday as a Roosevelt Hospital ambulance carried away Giuseppe Scaleri, an eight-year-old boy from Santa Catalina, brought to America dangerously ill of uric acid poisoning. The ship's doctor had used up his last tank of oxygen to keep the lad alive until the ship reached port.

The boy's mother, two sisters and a brother came with him and his father, Enrico Scaleri of Auburn, Mass., was waiting for the family on Pier 30, North River. Mrs. Scaleri was permitted to accompany her son to the hospital.

Roosevelt Servant Dies From Gas.

Miss Rhonda, a Finn, had been in the United States but a fortnight and the police expressed belief that not understanding the workings of fixtures she blew out the gas. Joseph Schapell, a porter, smelled gas outside the apartment, broke down the door and found the woman unconscious. The window was open.
